STRONG AFFIDAVIT ON COMPETITION AND THE TARIFF

PHILADELPHIA MANUFACTURER SHOWS EFFECT OF CHEAP FOREIGN LABOR

J. Hampton Moore gives the Philadelphia Ledger the following interesting matter regarding work and wages here and abroad:

"There is one argument which is made much of by the advocates of tariff for revenue only and which, because of the lack of attention it has received from those who are urging a continuation of protective policies, may have given rise to some doubts in the minds of those who are not free traders, but who do not believe in tariff piracy.

"American manufacturers, we are told, frequently sell their products in foreign markets at lower prices than are charged in the home markets.

"Is this fair?" demands the free trader. "Doesn't it prove that protective tariff is a conspiracy to rob the poor, not to help them?"

"In every case where American made articles are sold abroad for less money than they bring at home there is a reason and a very good one. Let us take, for example, the case of a certain make of sewing machine which has been widely used by the democrats as an illustration of unjust and unnecessary protection. This firm sells sewing machines in the United States for $28 and in England for $21.

"But it has a factory in Connecticut where the average wage is $12 a week and another in Glasgow where the average wage is $5 a week. Which is the more horrible, the $28 sewing machine or the $5 one?"

A PLEASING INCIDENT

The Western Nevada Miner of Mina, speaking of the Massey meeting there, says:

"A pleasing incident of the meeting was when Richard Stringfellow, who is an old-time southern democrat, and who is a railway postal clerk on the Nevada and California between Mina and Keeler, stepped forward and personally thanked Senator Massey for the strong and successful fight he made for the rights and welfare of the postal clerks in the senate, and wished him success in his fight for re-election."

HOW BILL TAFT SAVED RUIN OF A BIG INDUSTRY

TOOL INDUSTRY WOULD HAVE BEEN A BACK NUMBER EXCEPT FOR HIM

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—When President Taft arrived in New York Mr. Fred A. Geier of Cincinnati, president of the Cincinnati Milling Machine company and vice president of the National Machine Tool Builders' association of the United States, accompanied him.

On the way from Washington to New York on the president's private car, one of the most important conferences of the present campaign was held, a conference which promises results of great national interest. Mr. J. G. Schmicklapp of Cincinnati and Carmi Thompson, secretary to the president, were parties to it. But of the great movement which was there born, Mr. Geier is the originator. It contemplates a country-wide Taft organization, with Cincinnati as its starting point.

Gratitude is the mainspring of Mr. Geier's action. But for the president's courageous veto of the Underwood steel bill, passed by the last congress, the machine tool industry of the United States would have been utterly destroyed. Every dollar invested in it would have been wiped out, and the thousands of working men whom it has maintained in comfort would have been thrown out of employment.

Manufacturers and business men, and their employees, whose welfare depends upon the protective principle of the American tariff system, are to organize all over the country, and rally to the support of President Taft and the policy for which he stands.

Mr. Geier outlined his motives and purposes as follows:

"The machine tool industry of the United States was placed on the free list by the Underwood bill in the last session of congress," he explained. "It was a step that spelled destruction."

HYPATIA READING CLUB TO STUDY MUSIC

The weekly meeting of the Hypatia club on Thursday afternoon was more than usually interesting.

All bring with them an enthusiasm which surmounts the weighty problems so masterfully presented.

The chapters devoted to the training of the child, and those more delicately abstract, dealing with the inner life of the race, are all absorbing.

MRS. McLEOD PASSES THE CRISIS SAFELY

Dr. Musante received a wire this morning from Dr. McLeod at San Francisco stating that Mrs. McLeod had passed the crisis successfully last night and is resting easily with normal temperature. The situation has improved to such an extent that the doctor feels confident there will be no other complications. He leaves for home this morning and will be in Tonopah tomorrow.

WOMEN ON 400-MILE HIKE

LONDON, Oct. 11.—More than one hundred women started on a 400-mile tramp today to Edinburgh, in the interest of votes for women. The suffragettes will make a stop at every place they pass on the way and deliver speeches on the suffrage question. They expect to arrive in Edinburgh the latter part of November.

As only news of real value-giving makes good store advertising, it follows that a store must be able to print such news, in abundance, if its advertising is to accomplish anything.
